A note from your director

I don't know how religious you are, but even if you are not the world's greatest believers, you might want to think about that old saying: God helps those who help themselves. What do I mean by this? If you want to succeed (in your studies as well as life in general), you must do the best you can – in other words, invest the biggest effort you're capable of, and others will help you along the way.

MBA Dissertation Procedure

Whether you are at the beginning of your MBA or at the end of your second semester, take a few moments to read these notes about how to prepare for your dissertation. And then take a few days to really think about them – and do what is best for you: make yourself proud of your work and earn your own degree.

Step 6

Now that you have finished with the Induction, you are ready to begin studying. You can click on each of the courses that you are enrolled on, then work your way through the content, week by week, for the duration of the course.

The screenshot shows the Moodle course interface for London College of Business. The course is titled "LCB Global CM705May2011DL". The user is logged in as "Hi Ian Nisbet" and can access "My Profile" or "Logout". A "Sign in to myWALES" button is visible. The course menu on the left lists weeks 1 through 15, with "Show All Sections" at the bottom. The main content area displays a "Weekly outline" with sections for "Discussion Forum", "Online Resource Library" (powered by SkillsSoft), "Teaching Plan and Reading List", and "News forum". The current week is "Week 1: 9 May - 15 May", with "CM705 HRM Lecture 1" and "Lecturer 1 Slides" listed. The right sidebar contains a "Calendar" block for June 2011, an "Events Key" (Global, Course, Group, User), a "Global Search" field, and an "Administration" section with "Grades" and "Profile" links.

The Calendar block has reminders of upcoming events, such as lectures, assignment deadlines, etc.

The calendar block shows a monthly view for June 2011. The days of the week are listed at the top: Mon, Tue, Wed, Thu, Fri, Sat, Sun. The dates are arranged in a grid. The 21st of June is highlighted in blue, indicating the current date. The 17th of June is also highlighted in blue, likely representing an event or deadline.

The Online Users block shows which of your fellow students are currently logged in to the system. You can view their profile, read their blog and send them messages here.

The "Online Users" block shows a list of users who are currently logged in. The list is filtered to show users who have been online in the last 5 minutes. The user "Ian Nisbet" is listed twice, with a profile icon and a message icon next to each entry.
